Monsoon web page offers info for Surprise residents

Surprise, AZ (June 15, 2010) June 15 marks the official start of the Arizona monsoon, according to the National Weather Service, and the City of Surprise offers useful online tips and information to residents about how to handle these summertime storms.

At www.surpriseaz.gov/monsoon visitors will see important safety information on how to drive during a storm, home tips during a power outage and find the Citywide locations where sand and bags are offered during flood events. Contact information to local utilities is also available.

The Arizona monsoon, which can produce storms packing high winds, lightning and flash flooding, ends September 30.
